JOHN W. KERN IN TOWN

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR V. PRESIDENT COMES HERE

Many of Our Citizens Meet Him and He is Delighted With Trip Over the Battlefield

John Worth Kern, Democratic nominee for Vice President, came to Gettysburg on Sunday by automobile and his coming was in no way announced. He had been called to Baltimore on Saturday, being one of the attorneys in an equity case in which testimony was being taken in that city. At the end of the court work on Saturday he had gone to Westminster in the evening and addressed a large Democratic meeting at that place. Sunday a party in a large automobile started for Gettysburg, reaching here about noon.

In the party with Mr. Kern were Murray Vandiver of Havre de Grace, the Democratic chairman of Maryland, B. Frank Crouse, a leading Democrat of Westminster, Lee W. Sinetan and M. B. Hottel of Indiana, and a number of prominent Baltimore Democrats.

On the way down Baltimore street the picture of Wm. Jennings Bryan in the window of the COMPILER Building caught the eye of Mr. Kern, and when later introduced to Mr. Kern, he recalled the fact saying he was always glad to meet a Pennsylvania Democrat. The news of Mr. Kern's presence at the Eagle Hotel soon spread over the town and in a short time many of our citizens had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Kern and shaking hands with him.

Mr. Kern might be said to resemble and not to resemble his picture so much in the public eye at the present time. He is tall, about six feet in height and spare. His hair and beard is iron gray and is not as dark as many of his pictures would indicate. His figure is one that attracts attention. He is a gentleman the whole way through.

Mr. Kern is a delightful conversationalist. He had but a short time here but he had something pleasant to say to every one he met. He is a Democrat through and through. Any one could approach him. He is very sanguine of Indiana going Democratic. He spoke of the issue in his state of last week, where a special election was held in a number of counties to fill vacancies for the legislature, as the Governor had called a special session of that body. He explained how throughout his state the Democrats had gains in every county and if at the election in November a similar gain was had throughout the state of Indiana, his state would give a Bryan majority of 40,000, instead of a 90,000 majority as had been given Roosevelt four years ago. Mr. Kern also expressed himself pleased with the situation in New York state, with the Democratic party united and harmonious and believed all the indications were for a sweeping Democratic victory.

After dinner at the Eagle Hotel the party were taken over part of the battlefield with Capt. James T. Long as guide. The party started toward Westminster after four o'clock, Mr. Kern expressing himself delighted with his visit to Gettysburg and his trip over the battlefield.

Mr. Kern was glad that he had gone to Gettysburg and he seemed to be very much gratified that he had seen the battlefield.

"I have read a great deal about the battle," he said, "but I had no idea of the field. You cannot appreciate the lay of the land and the situation of the field except by seeing it and I am glad that I went there. I was greatly interested in the monuments to the Seventh, Fourteenth and Twentieth Indiana Regiments there and I wanted particularly to see the place where Colonel Dudley lost a limb."

About the "Lincoln Way," the memorial road from Gettysburg to Washington, which a number of people are advocating, Mr. Kern, smiling, said that they ought to get it.

Gettysburg reminding him of a story he told of an old fellow down in Salem county, Virginia, where his father lived at one time.

"Speaking of Pickett's charge at Gettysburg recalls an old fellow that used to live in Virginia. He made a living by picking huckleberries and doing enough little odd work to keep him in a side of bacon or something else to eat. That's about all he did. He was just one of those shiftless fellows—up North they'd call him 'ornery.'

"One day when I had nothing to do I asked him if he'd been in the war. He nodded that he had. I asked him what regiment—some Virginia regiment, he told me—and he said that his captain was Colonel Breckenridge, who lived over at the county seat. I asked him if he had ever been in battle and he told me that he had been in two or three. I asked him if he had been at Gettysburg and he answered that he had. I asked him what command, and he said Pickett's division.

"Well, that man was the last that you would have taken for a soldier. From his appearance you would never have dreamed that he had been one. Then he told me that he had been wounded—once in the side and once in the head—but both wounds had healed.

"The next time I saw Colonel Breckenridge I asked him if he knew this old fellow. 'What, old John?' he said. 'Well, indeed I do.' I asked him if that man had been in Pickett's charge at Gettysburg.

"'Sir, if you could have seen that man charging over that field at Gettysburg,' the Colonel told me, 'it would have thrilled you. With the blood streaming down his face, sir, and with his gun held out and charging toward the enemy, he was the incarnation of war. He was a hero!'

"Well, whenever I go past the town where he lives I see him at the railroad station, and I take off my hat to him. You can never tell from a man's appearance."

MARRIAGES.

REEVER—MCSHERRY—The Fairfield fire interrupts a marriage ceremony but after the fire has been put out the wedding goes on. Rev. C. L. Ritter was dressing to perform a wedding ceremony when the fire alarm was given on last Tuesday afternoon. He hurriedly put on his old clothes, told his wife to entertain the wedding couple and hurried out to help fight the fire. After the fire was under control he returned to his home and clerical garb and performed the ceremony. The bride and groom were Miss Emma McSherry, of near Hunterstown, and J. Lawrence Reever, of Freedom township.

***

BALDWIN—TRIMMER—Miss Ina Blanche Trimmer and Geo. W. Baldwin, of Bendersville, were married by Rev. W. W. Hartman at the Methodist parsonage on last Wednesday, Sept. 16.

***

MILLER—WISLER—Samuel B. Miller, of New Oxford, and Miss Mae Wisler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wisler, of Round Hill, were united in marriage at Baltimore on last Thursday. They went on a wedding tour to Washington, D. C. and other places.

***

GROVE—BOWERS.—Miss Sarah Lelia Bowers, daughter of Mrs. Matilda A. Bowers of Baltimore, was married Tuesday, Sept. 8, at Calvary Lutheran Church, to Dr Charles C. Grove of Salem, Va. A unique feature of the wedding was the fact that two brothers of the bride, both of whom are well known clergymen, performed the ceremony jointly. They were Rev. John C. Bowers, pastor of Calvary Church, Baltimore, and Rev. George S. Bowers, of Winchester, Va. The bride was given away by her mother. The altar was tastefully decorated with roses, palms and asters, and was illuminated by a number of candles. A reception and supper followed the ceremony, and then Dr. and Mrs. Grove left for their home in Salem. Dr. Grove is professor of mathematics at Roanoke College The groom is the eldest son of Mrs. Susanna and the late Lewis Grove, of this place. He is a graduate of Gettysburg College in class of 1900, and Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, from the latter institution receiving the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Dr. Grove has had several years experience in teaching and will enter upon his second year as professor of mathematics at Roanoke College.

Burglars Visit a Home.

Mrs. Andrew Potts left this place last week to visit her daughter, Mrs. Walter R. Sterns, at Woodmere, Long Island, and was at the latter's home on Friday evening when burglars visited the place, as detailed in Sunday's papers:

Burglars entered the house of Mrs. Walter R. Stearns at Woodmere Friday night and stole $1,000 worth of silverware and a miniature picture of Mrs. Stearns' son which is valued at $200. Mrs. Stearns reported the robbery to Sheriff Foster today.

The burglar got in by forcing a window and ransacked the dining room, parlor and butler's pantry on the ground floor. They did not go upstairs. Neighbors heard dogs barking about 2 o'clock and it is thought likely that the robbery was committed at that time. What appeared to be fresh automobile tracks were found outside of the house and it is thought the burglars had a machine in which to make a quick escape.

Lincoln Road Friend.

James T. McCleary, Chairman of the Lincoln Memorial Association and who proposed the Lincoln Roadway from Washington to Gettysburg as the most fitting Memorial this country could erect to the memory of Lincoln was nomined for congressman in the Second Minnesota Congressional district last week. Whether elected to Congress or as head of the Lincoln Association he will be most active in all legislative for the roadway.

Native Who Has Won His Way.

Chas. W. Schick, of Chicago, son of J. L. Schick of this place has been given following highly complimentary notice in a recent Bulletin of the New York Life Insurance Co. accompanied by an excellent likeness.

"Charley" Schick as he is known to a wide circle of friends and acquaintances, is an "old timer" over among New York Life Men, where long records of conspicuous field success are numerous. But in heart and spirit he bears his years with ease, in appearance he is as young as when he began with the New York Life in April 1884.

Mr. Schick was born in Gettysburg, Pa., some time prior to '84. His first active field work was at Springfield, Ill., for the New York Life. He served in various capacities, as sub-agent, general agent, and for two years as Agency Director at Dixon, Ill., in all of which he was a success.

But it is to the total and splendid amount of his paid insurance in the 24 years that the Bulletin would call attention—1187 policies aggregating $5,330,755 insurance. This means that on the average, year in and year out, during this extended period Mr. Schick has settled for something like 50 policies, $222,000 yearly; a record on which his many friends will congratulate him and wish him many years of continued and ever greater rewards.

Mr. Schick is deeply interested in clubs. He was seven times consecutively a member of the $200,000 Club of the New York Life, to say nothing of being Commodore of the Illinois Yacht Club and Vice-Commodore and Commodore of the Columbia Yacht Club, Chicago. He is a third degree Nylic and will soon become a Senior. Mr. Schick possesses to a high degree the qualities of personal cultivation and the capacity for sustained and most effective hard work. No wonder he is a conspicuous success with the New York Life."

Samuel M. Bushman Cashier of First National Bank visited Mr. Schick during his recent western trip and says he was treated royally by him, and that "Charley" has become a man of some wealth. His many friends here will be glad to know of his successes.

New Kind of House.

Robert Shriver has erected a new kind of house on East Middle street. It is built of tile blocks and presents a fine appearance. These blocks are seven times the size of a brick and were manufactured by Speese and Pfeffer at their plant on the York pike at the edge of town. The blocks are hollow and have been burned in a heat three times as great as the ordinary brick and have great strength. The air chamber will have the effect of keeping the house dry, and warm in winter and cool in summer. This is the first dwelling to be erected in this place from the tile blocks. Messrs. Spangler and Oyler recently erected an implement building at their phosphate plant below town. W. S. Duttera has contracted with Speese and Pfeffer for tile blocks for his three houses on Baltimore St.

Compiler Scrap Book in Montana.

Last week a letter came from a highly esteemed subscriber of the COMPILER at Helena, Montana. He had received a copy of the "Compiler Scrapbook" because he was a paid-in-advance subscriber to the COMPILER. He sends us the following highly appreciated letter:

"Your Scrapbook received, for which accept my thanks. The early history of the town and old Adams county is very interesting to me and should be to all who first saw the light within its borders. The present generation know very little of its early history. I hope the people will appreciate your efforts to acquaint them with the early history of the town and county in such a manner that it will justify you in continuing the good work."

Eye Seriously Injured

While G. B. Pittenturf was at work on a house of Fred. Heiges at Biglerville last week he met with a serious injury to his right eye. He was in the act of driving a spike in a hard board and a glancing stroke made the spike fly backwards and strike his right eye, making an ugly gash in the eye. A physician was summoned and Mr. Pittenturf was taken as speedily as possible to the eye hospital at Baltimore, and every effort will be made to save the sight of the eye.

Races—Races

The next matinee of the Gettysburg Driving Club Saturday Sept. 26th, promises to give to its patrons some sensational races, as the following well known horses have already entered, Pluto, Lottie-L, Alliewood, Belle, Winsome, Electrite, Rube, Standard, Prince, Joe Scott, Maud, Kitty B, Ida F, Grayfield, Belle D, Belle Mac, Mary Mac, Gray Harry, and horses from Hanover, McSherrystown, Littlestown, Taneytown, and Westminster.

Band of Hope.

Every boy and girl in Gettysburg, who ever attended "Band of Hope" or who expects to attend this year is invited to go on the trolley ride to Round Top next Saturday, Sept. 26. The car will leave Christ Lutheran Church at 1:30 P. M. Be prompt, and come expecting a good time.

Millinery Opening.

Misses Steffy and Power, successors to Mrs. W. H. Wierman, announce their opening of Fall Millinery and Trimmed Hats to take place Friday and Saturday, Sept. 25th and 26th, at 26 Baltimore St. We have just returned from the cities with a full line of trimmed and untrimmed hats, also trimmings. To this opening we extend a cordial invitation to the public. We will show you the latest and most attractive things the season has produced.

THE Episcopal Church of the Prince of Peace will give an "Organ Recital" in the Church by local and foreign talent, the evening of Oct. 8th, at 7:30 o'clock. No admission will be charged but a silver collection will be lifted. The public are cordially invited to attend. 3t

JOHN WADDLES SENTENCED

TO SIX YEARS IN THE EASTERN PENITENTIARY

For Assault with Attempt to Kill Jennie Walters Who Narrowly Escaped Death from Stabbing.

The regular September argument court convened on Monday morning, Judge S. McC. Swope, president judge, and Associate Judges Geo. H. Trostle and C. D. Smith on the bench.

John Waddles appeared in court to be sentenced. He had plead guilty to the charge of assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery and assault and battery with intent to kill, on information of Mrs. Jennie Walters. District Attorney John D. Keith brought the matter up and Waddles was represented by Wm. Hersh and Edward A. Weaver, Esqs. Mr. Hersh presented a petition of seventy-five citizens of Gettysburg, Cumberland and Straban townships, asking for leniency for the prisoner. A sworn statement of Mrs. Jennie Walters was also produced that she had fully recovered from the injuries she had received, that she had been intimately associated with Waddles for seven years, that she had formed an acquaintance with another man, which displeased Waddles and that she struck him and that he then struck her, that she believed he did not intend to kill her and she was not disposed to press the matter. E. A. Weaver, Esq., spoke in behalf of the mother of the prisoner. The Court in sentencing the prisoner said the petition was weak in numbers in proportion to the population, that the public must be protected and that assaults of the kind were odious. The Court said to the prisoner, "There is no doubt you have been living in criminal intimacy with this woman until she took up another man. You intended to kill her; jealous and provoked you keyed yourself up with drink and then made this assault. You are to be congratulated in not receiving a sentence for the death of your victim. It was the careful attention of the physicians who stopped the bleeding that saved her life. The only mitigation in your case is the plea of guilty. The maximum punishment of seven years penitentiary imprisonment is not a severe one. Your plea as entered will bring a less sentence." The Court then sentenced John Waddles to six years in the Eastern Penitentiary.

Com. vs. Calvin Laughman was the case of a youthful offender charged with breaking and entering the dwelling house of Mary Miller near Bittinger's Station and with stealing therefrom of a bunch of keys and a revolver. The defendant, a boy of about fourteen years of age, plead guilty, saying two other boys were with him at the itme and he returned the goods the same day. Mr. Hersh as his attorney read a letter in behalf of the boy from Morris Bittinger, Mrs. Samuel Brown, Mrs. Mary Miller, John D. Null and Paul C. Miller. The Court suspended sentence. The boy is a son of Pius Laughman, who had his leg broken recently.

The executors' and administrators' accounts as advertised were confirmed.

FILL THE COURT HOUSE

AT THE TOWN MEETING ON NEXT FRIDAY EVENING

Give the 50th Anniversary a Big Boost With a Rousing Town Meeting.

The Committee in charge of the arrangements for a town meeting to have our citizens stamp with their approval a 50th Anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg have called a town meeting for Friday evening, Sept. 25. The Court House should be crowded to the door on that evening. Let every man and woman who appreciate the age in which he or she lives be on hand. The occasion is one that should stir the patriotic blood of every citizen. Come out and show your colors. In five years the Lincoln Road may be completed. Pennsylvania may have raised a great memorial here. It will be a most fitting opportunity to commemorate the result of the great battle which has led up to the greater birth of freedom enjoyed to-day.

The following is the call of the Committee.

A town meeting will be held at the Court House on Friday, the 25th of September, 1908, at 7:30 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of considering the celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg. All citizens are urged to attend.

Dr. J. A. Singmaster.
Hon. S. McC. Swope,
Hon. Donald P. McPherson,
Committee.

GOOD HEALTHY FARM SOIL

CAN BE HAD BY DRAINAGE AND ABUNDANCE OF CULTIVATION

Fall of Year is Good Time to Add These Elements Toward Making Soil More Productive.

Fall is a good time of the year to provide for proper drainage. A drained soil is more readily freed from excess of water, and can be worked and planted earlier in the spring. Proper drainage increases the depth of the soil, requires less labor to prepare the soil, protects against dry weather, protects against damage from wet weather, all parts of the field are ready at the same time, crops can be cultivated regularly with less labor, larger feeding growth is given the roots of the plants, manures and fertilizers are more readily appropriated and seed germinates quicker and, with more certainty.

In other words, as drainage deepens the soil it gives an advantage over a shallow soil, inasmuch as a shallow soil underlaid with a cold, wet subsoil compels the roots of growing crops to seek food near the surface in soil perhaps already exhausted by former crops. The water line must be lowered; then the rootlets will follow down through the little spaces and seams, giving back to the parent stock the necessary food. The air also follows down as the water line is lowered, coming into contact with elements in the earth which dissolve into food for plants, which is taken and appropriated by the small rootlets.

It is necessary to closely study the physical conditions of soil, that we may have healthy and flourishing condition of plants. Through want of proper drainage, or other neglect, land is often allowed to get into an unhealthy state, which sooner or later is reflected in the character of the herbage growth upon the soil.

The chief danger is probably poor drainage, with consequent excess of water and lack of sufficient oxygen in the soil. Such a condition is weakening and often results in the death of the roots of plants growing in such soils. Especially is this so to crops growing in heavy clay soils, and where there is an impervious subsoil. In such cases many of the feeding roots of plants are killed by suffocation during protracted wet seasons.

Very often roots that may just be forming are killed in a few days, should the soil become saturated with water. Not only is there a loss of these feeding roots, but the vitality of the entire plant becomes weakened.

Plants growing where the surface is caked and packed often suffer from want of oxygen for the roots. This is especially applicable to trees. In such cases the annual growth is not only retarded, but the plants lose vitality and become prey of insects and fungus pests.

The remedy for such a condition is deep and careful cultivation and the provision of some organic fertilizer. This will provide plant food for new growth of the roots and also lighten the physical nature of the soil. Lime is also recommended for this latter purpose in the case of heavy clay soils.

The roots of all plants must have a supply of oxygen. Without it they cannot develop. Deprived of this oxygen, they die of suffocation. The plant will be poisoned by its own decomposition products, and will starve, or become the prey of parasitic enemies, which it is too weak to resist.

Hepburn Act and W. M. R. R.

Judge George W. Dallas, Judge George Grey and Judge Joseph Buffington composing the third district Bench of the United States Circuit Court of appeals filed an opinion last week declaring the Hepburn railroad act unconstitutional. This law prevented railroads from owning and operating coal lands. The act was intended to compel railroads to get out the business of coal mining and carrying their own coal in competition with coal of other shippers. The act restricted the business of railroads to that of common carriers. However right the law might be in theory, at the present time to put it in force meant the confiscation or destruction of enormous values in property. The coal carrying railroads in the developments of their properties have acquired thousands of acres of land. To compel the sale of these lands so that the railroad should not mine, haul and sell its own coal meant a wholesale destruction of the values of railroads, held by thousands of people.

The Western Maryland owns thousands of acres of coal mine lands in West Virginia and when the Hepburn law went into effect the W. M. R. R. had to ask for the appointment of a receiver, for the reason as then stated, of the inability to operate road without owning and selling coal from its West Virginia lands. In the event of the Supreme Court of the United States sustaining the decision of the Circuit Court of appeals in knocking out the Hepburn law, the W. M. R. R. will no doubt emerge from the receivership and be a stronger road than ever in the past because of strong financial friends recently made.

Fruit Growers Meeting.

The Fruit Growers Association of Adams County held a regular meeting in Fruit Growers Hall, Bendersville, on last Saturday evening, Sep. 12. Rufus Lawyer discussed "Cultivation and Pruning of small fruits", C. L. Osborne "How shall we dispose of the culi apples" and W. S. Adams "Experience with the plum crop."

Current events were discussed by J W. Prickett, J. A. McDermad and David Ogden.

War On the Bed Bugs.

Dr. H. A. Surface, State Economic Zoologist has declared war on the bed bug. To the frequent requests for a destroyer that destroys he replied as follows. "You may think that a singular request," said Dr. Surface, "but it is one that is frequently received here—a request for some method of destroying these pests. I tell them all to fumigate their houses with Prussic acid gas. All that is necessary to kill the bugs, and not only bugs but rats and mice and other vermin, is to pour water into a vessel (avoid using metal) and drop the cyanide of potassium or Prussic acid in the water in a paper bag and leave the room. The mixture will do the rest. Use an ounce of cyanide to four ounces of water, and you can do the trick. But you must not stay in the room while the remedy is working. Get out of the room as quickly as possible and stay out for about forty minutes. Then open the doors and windows for at least fifteen minutes before again occupying the room, and my word for it there will be no more bugs or vermin of any kind in that room.

"The comfort to many persons during the summer time would pay many times the cost of fumigation, and many would be glad to undertake it if they were only certain they could succeed with safety, but if the directions that I am now sending out over the State are carefully followed there can be no danger. Only care must be taken that the fumes of the mixture are not inhaled. The bed bug must go, and that is the most effectual way of driving it out of existence.

Trolley Projects.

The project of trolley line from Mt. Holly to Gettysburg is still alive according to Mr. Pascoe, and very much alive. He declared last week in Carlisle that practically all the rights of way have been secured but that Company cannot begin work until certain matters connected with building of road are adjusted. He also says his company expects to begin work this fall.

While Gettysburg is being treated to a good deal of trolley talk Hanover seems to be getting there with trolleys actually built The Hanover and McSherrystown Street Railway Co. contemplate an immediate extension to Pennville, and it is expected that New Oxford, Abbottstown and East Berlin will be placed on a circuit at an early date probably next year.

A new trolley from Hanover to Reisterstown, Md. and a number of men who have backed the York Railways and branches are saying that this new trolley will surely be built.

With the Lincoln Roadway sure to come and with it a development of Gettysburg undreamt of before, why the trolley building does not hurry up toward this point is difficult to understand. It would seem that those who build trolleys are not alive to the advantages of this point with its great attractions.

Chance Contests Can Not be Printed

Newspapers are frequently asked to print chance contests. Only last week such an advertisement was offered the COMPILER. The matter of selling chances in an article is a method often followed at picnics and other places, or merchants sometimes give tickets entitling holders to chances in articles. Such contests may be all right in a way, but the mails can not be used in anyway whatever to further such undertakings. The Postal Laws prohibit the matter in following provision.

"Nor shall any newspaper, magazine, pamphlet or publication of any kind containing an advertisement of any lottery, or gift enterprize of any kind, offering prizes dependent upon chance, or containing any list of prizes awarded at the drawings of any such lottery or gift enterprise, whether said list is of any part or of all the drawing, be carried in the mail or delivered by any postmaster or letter carrier."

Disbarment from the mails is not the only punishment prescribed under the above section, as any person who deposits in the mail box, or offers for delivery, any such matter as described above is guilty of a misdemeanor which is punishable by a fine of $500 or one year's imprisonment or both.

The Flyer Has Arrived.

One of the most important events of this age took place last week when man successfully flew as the bird does. He did not use a baloon but a flyer or aeroplane. Orville Wright made a number of successful flights at Fort Meyer, near Washington, on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and on Saturday beat all his previous records, by flying for one hour and fourteen minutes. He took up a companion and made the longest flight on record for two persons almost ten minutes. He has perfect control of the flyer, descends wherever he pleases and as easily as a bird. He traveled on Saturday at the rate of fifty miles an hour This week he will make the official tests as arranged by the War Department and expects to win all the extras amounting to $10,000 in addition to the $25,000 as cost price of the flyer. Darius Green is another myth to be retired.

SETTLED OUT ...OF COURT.

[Original.]

Rufus Choate Timberton was a very eminent lawyer. He had so much business to attend to that he could do little himself but take up cases that had been prepared for him by his large staff of assistants. It was necessary that he should have every detail carefully placed before him. His position might be compared to that of a railroad train running on automatic switches. Anything wrong in a mechanical detail may wreck the train; anything wrong in Mr. Timberton's data might wreck his case.

It was natural, then, that he should exact great care from his assistants. Any one of them failing to keep him, as it were, running on the right track was instantly discharged. But they had all been with him a long while and had become so used to their duties that there never was nut or bolt of the office machinery misplaced.

Mr. Timberton was one morning in court attending to a divorce case. He did not take divorce cases as a rule, but in this one his client was very rich and his fee was to be enormous. Both the husband and wife were in court. Mr. Timberton always instructed his clients to blind obedience to his methods, and whatever he did or said in the courtroom was to be accepted without question as a part of his scheme. His assistant, Mr. Pinkey, who had prepared the present case for him, was in court and sat beside his chief with a bundle of papers before him. Mr. Pinkey was a lean man of twenty-seven who looked anywhere from thirty to fifty. Mr. Timberton was addressing the court.

"It is stated in the plea," he said, "that this woman has rendered the man's life a burden. We shall show how she neglected her home, turned her children over to nurses and spent her time among the fashionable multimillionaires who are the money power of this republican country and would gladly, if they could, turn it over to a monarch of their own choosing. At evening, when her hardworking husband came to his home, what did he find? A wife to meet him at the door with a smile of welcome and a connubial kiss? No. She was either driving in the park or losing his hard earned money in some palace where our commercial aristocracy gamble at the game of bridge."

That Mr. Pinkey feared something had gone wrong with the office posting system was evident from the fact that he dived into the papers before him, pulled out one and hastily examined it.

"There is nothing," continued the speaker, "so beautiful as the home. The good book tells us that our Maker created man in his own image. And what is the family but a miniature of the immortal father and his mortal children? When a woman"—

Mr. Timberton was interrupted by a pull at his coat sleeve. He paid no attention to it. In a few moments he was interrupted by another pull. Glancing down angrily, he saw Mr. Pinkey looking up at him with dismay, holding a paper for his chief to see and pointing with his finger to a certain place. The learned lawyer saw at once that he had made a mistake. His assistant had not made it. He had made it himself. He had been retained by the wife whom he was holding up as a violator of domestic comfort.

If there is one faculty that goes to make up greatness it is resource. Mr. Timberton took time only to abuse his assistant in a whisper for not before calling his attention to his error; then he turned serene and faced the court.

"In these days of legal chicanery," he went on, "it behooves one intrusted with a client's interests to forestall those tricky methods that are resorted to by unscrupulous attorneys. I have preferred to state the case against my client myself. What I have told you about this much abused, long suffering woman will be told by her husband's attorney. But how will it be told? By placing even a worse construction than I have placed on it. He will put upon her the popular obliquy of riches. Who owned these millions but the man who is suing one whom I shall show by competent witnesses to be a virtuous, a domestic wife and mother? You will be told of the iniquity of bridge whist, but you will not be told that my client does not know the game. You will have the sacredness of the family held up before you, but instead of being told that the breach has been made in this case by this profligate man whose sins cry out against him they will be laid at the door of his faithful wife."

At this juncture the husband cast a glance at his wife, and at the same moment the wife cast a glance at the husband. Her lips broke into a smile, which was reflected on his. They were a wealthy young couple who had found the bridge between romance and married life quite as difficult to pass as most couples, if not more so. Mr. Timberton saw both smiles, and his rare genius found still another field.

"My experience," he continued, "in this case, your honor, before it came to trial convinced me that it was one to be settled out of court. In conducting it I have adopted the reductio ad absurdum argument, which in English means reducing to an absurdity. I have shown both the plaintiff and the defendant how shallow are the reasons that may be brought forth on either side. I have given those of my distinguished opponent as well as my own. I now move an adjournment of the case, during which the parties may confer with a view to a settlement."

The case was settled out of court.

CASE AFTER CASE

Plenty More Like This in Gettysburg.

Scores of Gettysburg people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?

Mrs. John J. Tawney, living at 234 Baltimore St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "Mr. Tawney suffered off and on from rheumatism and kidney complaint for a long time. His back ached severely and in the morning he would be so stiff and lame that he could hardly get out of bed. His kidneys were also irregular and gave him much annoyance. He recently suffered a severe attack, procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at The Peoples Drug Store, and received relief at once, Doan's Kidney Pills proved so beneficial in every respect that he does not hesitate to recommend them to others."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Cures Woman's Weaknesses.

Dr. John Fyfe, one of the Editorial Staff of THE ECLECTIC MEDICAL REVIEW says of Unicorn root (Chelonias Dudca) which is one of the chief ingredients of the "Favorite Prescription":

"A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator * * * makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system." He continues "in Helonias we have a medicament which more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent." Dr. Fyfe further says: "The following are among the leading indications for Helonias (Unicorn root). Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhœa; atonic (weak) conditions of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women; constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys; menorrhagia (flooding), due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhœa, suppressed or absent monthly periods, arising from or accompanying an abnormal condition of the digestive organs and Anæmic (thin blood) habit; dragging sensations in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid woman can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Unicorn root, or Helonias, and the medical properties of which it most faithfully represents.

Of Golden Seal root, another prominent ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says:

"It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb. In all catarrhal conditions * * * and general enfeeblement, it is useful."

Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, says of Golden Seal root:

"In relation to its general effects on the system, there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic useful in all debilitated states."

Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, says of Golden Seal:

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription faithfully represents all the above named ingredients and cures the diseases for which they are recommended

"The Philadelphia Record" Actively Supports Bryan

A Presidential contest that will undoubtedly be waged with unwonted vigor on both sides of the line dividing the great national parties is now in full swing. Politics will be the principal topic of discussion wherever men congregate until the claims of the rival candidates shall be settled at the ballot-box in November. It goes without saying that accurate information of all the important moves on the campaign chess-board will be indispensable to every wide-awake voter.

Democrats turn naturally to "The Philadelphia Record" for such information. It is the only Democratic newspaper in Philadelphia recognized the country over as one of the leading exponents of Democratic opinion on this edge of the Continent. It is fair, though partisan: it chronicles the telling blow, no matter who is hit. Suppression and misrepresentation are weapons that have no place in its armory. "Square deal" Democrats and Republicans will find the daily budget of "The Record" essential to an intelligent understanding of the progress of a lively Presidential canvass.

No newspaper ever achieved popularity on the strength of its political attitude alone. "The Philadelphia Record" is no exception to the rule. It is lifted above the common level by many distinctive features that appeal to the varied interests of every member of the household. It prints the news—all the news—in a concise, brisk form that has come to be known, even among its contemporaries, as "Record style." A proper sense of perspective dictates its thorough presentation of happenings in its own immediate field—Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland. Its editorial treatment of the questions of the day is at once well-balanced and aggressive.

"The Philadelphia Record" exploits no fads and rides no hobbies, but it is pre-eminent in its special departments. It is the recognized authority in the field of sports and the turf. Farmers and shippers swear by its market reports, which are always complete, accurate and wholly reliable. To the practical man its columns of popularized science are entertaining and helpful; the practical woman finds the matters that lie nearest to her heart treated amply—and sanely—in a department devoted to the home, dress and the world of feminine achievement. There is a corner in "The Record" for boys and girls; a weekly column of condensed, up-to-date information for the farmer; a daily bouquet of breezy anecdotes—"The Reporter's Nosegay"—so good that they are clipped and reprinted by newspaper editors throughout the country.

If you want a clean newspaper, worthy to occupy an honored place in the home circle—

If you want a live newspaper without a streak of yellow in its make-up—

If you want a stalwart Democratic newspaper that will keep you thoroughly posted on every phase of a stirring national campaign—

If you want a family newspaper the profit and pleasure of reading which will be shared by others, no matter how diverse their tastes and inclinations—

You want "The Philadelphia Record." It is the only paper that fills the bill.

"The Philadelphia Record"

will be mailed to your address at the following rates:

COURSE OF THE CAMPAIGN

MAINE'S SMALL PLURALITY HAS FRIGHTENED TAFT.

The Only Way to Get the Guaranteed Bank is to Elect Bryan and Ziegler.

Wm. Jennings Bryan has stirred up the West as that section has never been stirred up before, so that many of the strong Republican States of the Middle West as well as the far west, are not only considered doubtful but a number as certain to go for Bryan. Last week Mr. Bryan started on an eastern tour and Monday evening, Sept 14, spoke to an immense crowd in Baltimore and has been enthusiastically received at every point.

The result of the election in Maine on Monday, Sept. 14, was a blow to the Republicans. In the last presidential contest Maine went Republican in October by over 26,000. This year the Republican candidate for Governor wins by 8,000. The result in Maine and the reception of Bryan throughout the country has thoroughly alarmed the Republican management. Taft, who was to have conducted a front porch campaign from Cincinnati, has decided to go out on a speaking tour. President Roosevelt has rushed forward with a letter to a western friend, the real reason for his activity as admitted being to check the rising Democratic tide. It has been reported that Roosevelt has said, "I don't like the reports I am getting. Things don't seem to be going the way they should." Roosevelt, it is semi-officially announced, is prepared to go on the stump to save the day for Taft.

Samuel Breidenbach, a prominent Republican, of Philadelphia, recently gave his reason why he will vote for Bryan:

"My choice for president is Wm. J. Bryan, because he is logically the people's candidate. Every working man, union, or non-union, should support him. Bryan is a commoner, Taft is an aristocrat. Bryan is a typical American, and in the twelve years or more he has appeared in the limelight naught can be said against his character and ability. The Democratic platform stands for a revenue tariff, the Republican platform stands for a tariff fostering trusts, monopolists and capitalists, and which they have promised to revise after election—100 years hence. Bryan as president, means equal rights to all, special favors to none."

Mr. Bryan is taking care of himself admirably, making friends wherever he goes and saying the right thing when attacked. Speaker Cannon attacked Bryan saying he "had accumulated more than a million dollars selling wind to the public." Mr. Bryan answered as follows:

"I was worth about $3,000 when I was elected to Congress. I served four years, and by careful economy saved between $3,000 and $4,000, or about $1,000 a year, so that when I went out of Congress in the spring of 1895 I was worth about $6,000 or $7,000. During the period that elapsed between the end of my Congressional terms and my nomination for the Presidency—about a year and four months—I was engaged in speaking and in lecturing, and added a small sum to my savings.

"After the election in 1896 my earning power as a lecturer was largely enhanced by the prominence which the campaign had given me. My book, 'The First Battle,' brought me $17,000 and I gave an equal amount of the profits to the various committees that had carried on the campaign of 1896. My lectures have been profitable and my writings have paid me well, but no one attends the lectures unless he wishes to do so, and no one buys what I write unless he is interested in reading it.

"More than half of my time since 1896 has been given to gratuitious work, and yet I have been able to support myself and accumulate property which I would estimate at $125,000; but, as one can never say accurately what property is worth until he sells it, I will fix $150,000 as the outside limit of my wealth, and I am willing to leave it to the public to determine whether that is more than I ought to have earned or whether I have earned it honestly.

"And now, having answered the criticism of Mr. Cannon and shown that his accusation is false, I think I am justified in asking him to be as frank with the public as I have been. He began holding office in 1861, when I was a year old, and during the last forty-seven years he has held office more than forty years of the time. Of the thirty-five years of that time he has been a member of Congress.

"Will he tell us what he has been selling, to whom he has sold and how much he got for it?"

The voters should remember that one of the important issues of the campaign is the graduated bank. The Democratic platform and candidate is pledged to bring about the graduated bank while the Republican party is against the same. The banks are to be graduated by each bank contributing an amount proportional to deposits and when any guaranteed bank fails, losses will be made good from the guarantee fund. This can not help but make all banks organize against loose methods and prevent losses as far as possible. The new State of Oklahoma is the only State in the Union with a guaranteed bank. A statement recently issued by the Chairman and Secretary of the State Banking Board, shows the following facts: There are 751 banks guaranteed in the State, which includes 54 national banks. There are 255 banks not guaranteed. From Dec. 3, 1907, to Feb. 14, 1908, the deposits in the unsecured banks decreased about an even half million. The secured national banks gained in deposits, about a half million and the secured state banks about three-quarters of a million. From Feb. 14, 1908, May 14th, 1908, the secured national banks show an increase in deposits of $654,000. State secured banks in same period show an increase in deposits of $2,355,000. The unsecured banks lost in deposits $300,000. There is $3,828,410.62 more individual deposits in the banks in Oklahoma now than before the Depositor's Guaranty law was passed.

This is the trade-mark of

and is on every bottle of it sold in the world—which amounts to several millions yearly.

Why—Because it has made so many sickly children strong and well—given health and rosy cheeks to so many pale, anaemic girls and restored to health so many thousands in the first stages of Consumption.

Send this advertisement, together with name of paper in which it appears, your address and four cents to cover postage, and we will send you a "Complete Handy Atlas of the World."

SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl St., N.Y.

Mr. Bryan has been showing the country how when the national government deposits in a national bank or a state deposits, the deposits must be secured by bonds and in other ways with the result that when a bank fails the government and state is secured from loss. As Mr. Bryan says every interest doing business with a bank is a preferred creditor in the event of failure except the general depositor, who at the present time comes in at the tail end for what is left. The general depositors are the business people of a community, women, and many people of small means, those least able to bear a loss. The guaranteed bank will prevent any loss to the general depositor. It will eliminate the foolish practice of keeping large sums in the house

The only way to bring the guaranteed bank is to vote for Wm. J. Bryan for president and Edward J. Ziegler for congress. Bryan will need a Democratic congress to pass a guaranteed bank law.

Booming Brother Bill.

Oho, I'm Brother Charley, and I'm booming Brother Bill,
Who's big enough and good enough the White House chair to fill.
I'm sure he is the finest man who ever yet has sought
An office that he ought to have—I'm very sure he ought!
There never was a candidate nor any nominee
Who so deserved the ballots of his fellow men as he;
And he will be the President—I'm certain that he will.
For I'm his Brother Charley and I'm booming Brother Bill.

I'm booming Brother Bill;
I'm booming him until
He gets the votes on which he dotes—
And you can bet he will!

My Brother Bill is broad enough—he's been around the earth
And studied governments and men for all that they are worth;
He's been before the people for a dozen years or so.
And mostly been upon the jump, for Bill was never slow.
The chosen of his party and the idol of his folks.
He's Brother Charley's favor-ite, and that is not a hoax;
And though he's settled down a spell he's in the running still.
For I'm his Brother Charley and I'm booming Brother Bill.

I'm booming Brother Bill;
I'm booming him until
The votes are in to make him win
Which you can bet he will!

Why, Bill's the greatest statesman that the nation ever saw!
He's right upon his record and he's right upon the law;
He's right about the tariff and correct about the courts,
No matter how the enemy imagines or reports;
He's fair and square on everything, on all the platform planks,
Including his position as to guaranteeing banks.
In fact, he's such a wonder that he makes me chirp and thrill,
For I'm his Brother Charley and I'm booming Brother Bill.

I'm booming Brother Bill;
I'm booming him until
He gets the call to rule us all—
It's safe to bet he will!

—Robert Love.

COMPILER SCRAPBOOK

Appreciated Complimentary Notice by Our Contemporaries.

The Gettysburg COMPILER, our much esteemed contemporary across the line, entered upon its ninety-first year last Wednesday, and as a compliment to its subscribers that excellent, newsy journal has issued a 32 page illustrated magazine entitled the Compiler Scrapbook, "devoted to Adams county and Gettysburg and preservation of their history." Ninety years is a long time for a county paper to serve its patrons, but if true worth counts for anything this excellent paper will be going through the mails to its loyal subscribers even 90 years hence. That such may be the case is the sincere congratulatory wish of The Chronicle.—Emmitsburg Chronicle.

Volume 1, No. 1, of "The Compiler Scrap Book," edited and published by Wm. Arch. McClean, is before us and is a most interesting booklet. It contains interesting matter pertaining to James Gettys, the founder of Gettysburg, the founding of Adams county etc.—Star and Sentinel.

The Gettysburg COMPILER has commenced the issue of a quarterly magazine which it calls a "Scrap book of Gettysburg." It is to be largely a historical publication, for the preservation of important facts connected with Gettysburg and Adams county, and will be issued, free, to paid in advance subscribers to the COMPILER, as long as "Adams county people make it worth while."

The first issue contains a sketch of Gen. James Gettys, founder of Gettysburg; history of the formation of Adams county and other valuable scraps of early history. We can readily appreciate the value of such a publication, and think the COMPILER has produced an original, and certainly a very liberal, proposition for the benefit of its large list of subscribers. It is well worth at least 25 cents a year, in addition to the regular price of the paper, and at this cost would still be a premium for advance payment.—Carroll Record.

The Scrapbook of the Gettysburg COMPILER is a new publication which is edited and published by Wm. Arch McClean, editor of the COMPILER. It is a neat and interesting magazine which deals with the history of Gettysburg and vicinity and is given as a premium to subscribers of that paper.—Carlisle Volunteer.

The Gettysburg Compiler has issued a "Scrapbook" reminiscent of the early days of that ancient town. It is neatly printed, handsomely illustrated and altogether a highly creditable publication.—Fulton Democrat.

That "Alaska Wheat" Fake

The Saturday Evening Post that started the story of Alaska Wheat printed in last issue following report of an expert sent out to investigate the wheat.

"Assertions of huge crops or good flourmaking quality not justified. Adams' only claim of proportion of 200 bushels an acre is with an eight of an acre patch two years ago. For last year admits farm average only thirty bushels. So far this year only twenty five to thirty-five an acre. Offers excuses such as weeds and under-sowing. Not true that wheat has been grown successfully else where. Misleading to say frost-proof, for admits some injury by snow. Flour-making qualities unknown. Adams was given experiment station analysis last year and told with it that milling test was necessary to show the quality with certainty. Has not had the test. The wheat in appearance is much like certain large, coarse wheat, not valuable for flour."

The government investigators have repoted that the Alaska wheat to be practically worthless for ordinary milling purposes, and that the yield per acre was not so large as that of varieties valuable for flour-making.

Senator Martin Visits Franklin Co.

Hon. Wm. A. Martin, Democratic candidate for State Senator, visited Franklin county last week. Spending Wednesday evening and Thursday in Chambersburg, calling on his friends. He received much encouragement during his visit. The "Valley Spirit" editorially said:

Because of his legislative experience the voters of Franklin county should vote for Hon. Wm. A. Martin for State Senator. He is an honest, straightforward gentleman, broadminded and tolerant of the rights of the people, yet conscientious and true to his word and principles. SUCCESSFUL HANOVER FAIR.

Unfortunate Accidents Overtake Johnson Family.

The Hanover Fair was an unqualified success. The weather was everything that could be desired. Immense crowds attended each day. The record for attendance was broken, exceeding any previous fairs, reaching between 40,000 and 50,000.

The complete changes on the fair ground was favorably commented on by every one. The old buildings have disappeared and large new buildings crowded with exhibits took their place. The main building, agricultural building, poultry building, grand stand, were entirely new, and more commodious.

On Thursday about 20,000 people visited the fair. A larger crowd being gathered along the Western Maryland railroad than on any previous occasion It took a special train of fourteen coaches beside regular trains to carry the visitors homeward.

The races were exceptionally good with fast time but collisions on Wednesday and Thursday marred this feature. On Wednesday afternoon in the third heat of the 2.21 pace, the veteran horseman, "Tommy" C. Johnson, who was driving "Magnolia" in a large field of horses, got in a mix-up with the result that his sulkey was upset and he was thrown to the track, being cut and bruised. He was removed to his home in a buggy, receiving medical treatment from Drs. A. C. Rice of McSherrystown and M. M. Fleagle of Hanover. The driver of Black Patchen was thrown from the sulkey but the animal without a break finished under the wire in the second place.

Nine horses were entered in the 2.18 pace on Thursday and all went four straight heats. In the last heat one horse dropped out and the remaining eight all bunched together were thundering down the stretch on the final circuit. When within 200 yards of the wire "Get There Eli," driven by William Shireman of Middletown, attempted to lead off "Lottie L" owned by Ben Kindig of this place driven by George McKay and both teams and drivers rolled over on one heap of wreckage. Frank S., driven by Howard Johnson, son of Tommy Johnson, ran into the wreckage. The other horses still in the lead continued in the race. The horses driven by Johnson and Shireman regained their feet after the collision and continued in the race without a driver. Of the drivers George McKay, driver of "Lottie L" was the only person seriously injured, having a badly bruised right leg.

It was a week of accidents for the Johnson family. On Friday morning Mrs. Johnson had taken her daughter Miss Grace Johnson, to the office of the Long table works, in the West End of Hanover, where the young lady is employed as stenographer, in a buggy. After parting with her daughter, Mrs. Johnson started to return home, when, a short distance from the factory, her buggy collided with another buggy. In the collision Mrs. Johnson was thrown to the ground, rendering her unconscious, receiving a deep cut over the right eye, a fracture of her left wrist and other painful bruises. She was taken into a nearby house and a physician summoned. She was later removed to her home at the Fair Ground.

Lockbaum Family Reunion.

Lockbaum descendants of Adams and Franklin counties held their 1st annual reunion on Saturday, Sept. 19, at the home of Jonothan Lochbaum, Fayetteville, Franklin county. The day was an ideal one for the occasion, there were 43 descendants present all of which had a most enjoyable time. Twenty-seven of those present were from Adams county.

A "HILLSIDE CITY OF HOPE"

What Pennsylvania has Done at the South Mountain Sanatorium.

"A Hillside City of Hope" is the term used by Leigh Mitchell Hodges in describing the new sanatorium for consumptives that has been built on South Mountain, in Franklin county. No words could more aptly describe the bulwark of defense that the Health Department has raised against the "great white plague." In this modern institution the state of Pennsylvania will set hundreds of sufferers on the road to health and will teach to others how the sunlight and air of the hills may be made to conquer in the fight that has staggered science for so many years.

In this work of giving the proper care to those among its people who have been stricken by this dread disease Pennsylvania has taken the lead. In the wise expenditure of the money appropriated for its work the Health Department has set an example that will be followed for years to come by [illegible] commonwealths which must [illegible] later give their attention to this, the greatest philanthropic work of the century.

Just how the work has been done, just what results have been accomplished in the fight against the plague are both within the scope of Mr. Hodges' article, which will appear in the Magazine Section of the Sunday "North American for September 27.

The article is fully illustrated in such a way as to give the layman a very clear idea of what has been done and what remains to be accomplished. It will also serve to show the sufferers from tuberculosis and their friends what can be done to give them a new outlok to the future.

BRYAN CLUB OF STRABAN.

HUNTERSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 21 1908. The Democracy of Straban twp. met at Hunterstown, Pa., and organized a Bryan League Club on Thursday evening, Sept. 17th. Chas. Bucher, County Organizer, was present by request of Committee and explained benefits of organized Bryan League Clubs. Those present were much pleased with the plans.

The following officers were elected: President of League, W. D. Brown; Secretary, G. H. Morrison. The Vice Presidents are Samuel H. Witter, T. C. Grove, G. W. Reever, Jacob Emlet, H. H. Schriver, Harry Wirt, J. L. Toot, Jacob Winnand, John Wolford, Jeff. McIntire, Samuel Haam, H. L. Plank, James Dundore, J. F. March, F. X. Miller

The object and aim of the club is to put up a fight for the local and general election, to sweep the stakes for Bryan and Kern, and to roll up an old time majority in old Straban, the once banner township of the county. Fifty-eight members at present are enrolled with indications that it may reach far over a hundred. The meeting adjourned to meet the following Thursday evening, Sept. 24th, 1908.

BUSY WITH APPLE CROP.

ORRTANNA, Sept. 21.—Mr. John Starner, our apple barrel manufacturer is now turning out barrels for the apple growers.

Choice apples are selling for $1.50 per barrel out of the orchard. The apple crop is about a half crop.

Some petty thieving has been going on in this neighborhood. Samuel Baumgardner had about half of his sweet potato crop stolen. Maxwell Seiss also had sweet potatoes stolen. Others have had peaches and also corn. The farmers are fully aware of what is going on and it will not be good for the offenders if caught.

A Golden Wedding.

The Index, of Evanston, Illinois, notices the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lindsay of that city as follows:

"While the wedding bells are sending forth their joyful notes for the many September marriages, they also ring a glad refrain for a golden wedding here.

"Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lindsay celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, which took place in Peoria, Ill., on September 9, 1858.

"A small circle of Evanston friends gathered in their beautifully decorated home in the afternoon and in the evening relatives of both the bride and groom that could be here, spent the evening with them in happy reminiscences.

"While Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay are nearing the four-score milestone of life, a vigor similar to that of youthful manhood and womanhood is granted to them.

"Two sons and a daughter belong to their unbroken family circle, Charles C. Lindsay of Chicago, William M. Lindsay of Peoria, and Mary B. Lindsay, librarian of the Evanston Public Library.

"A number of the guests who attended the original wedding were also present. These included the two bridesmaids, Miss Jennie Lindsay Moore of Evanston, and Mrs. Louise Dinwiddie Elder, a sister of Mrs. Lindsay of Peoria, Mrs. Jane Lindsay Mahan, sister of Mr. Lindsay, from Chicago and Mrs. Mary McAyres of Hinsdale, Ill.

"In the evening the bride put on her wedding gown with her bridal wreath of orange blossoms and made merry with her friends over the quaintness of fashions in gowns of fifty years ago.

"Before they separated the guests stood in circle with hands joined, sang "Auld Lang Syne" and were led in prayer by Rev. Herbert Moore, who is a grand nephew of Mr. Lindsay."

Mrs. Lindsay was Miss Sarah Margaret Dinwiddie and was born and lived early part of her life in Gettysburg.

THE DEMOCRATIC LANDSLIDE.

The Democratic landslide is on the move. The large Democratic gains in Maine were from industrial centers. The election last week in Indiana places that state in the Democratic column. The gains were largely from the cities and towns showing the labor vote to be with the Democratic party in their fight "Shall the People Rule." The landslide is on in Ohio, Senator Foraker has admitted that he took Standard Oil money. Taft has had to unload Foraker. New York State Democrats have nominated one whom the New York "Sun" says is an honest gentleman and an honorable public officer who was elected Lieutenant Governor when Gov. Hughes had 60,000 majority and admits that Lewis S. Chandler will command the full strength of the Democratic vote. That means that New York will be on top in the landslide.

THE HAND OF DEATH.

One of the Good Men of Earth Gone to His Reward.

REV. JOHN JAMISON died on last Saturday at his home at Indiana, Pa., over 80 years of age. He was a native of Washington county, Pa. and for twenty years from 1867 was pastor of the United Presbyterian church of this place. He was one of those quiet, modest, sincere men who lived to serve and do good and it can be said of him that no better men live. He lost his sight in his advancing years, bearing his affliction patiently and without complaint. He leaves a widow, three daughters and one son, Mrs. Mollie Harding, of Windber, Pa., Mrs. Kate Curren, of York Co., Miss Sallie Jamison and Foster Jamison, of Indiana, Pa.

JOSEPH R. LUCKENBAUGH died Monday, Sept. 14, at his home in Hanover, aged 66 years, 2 months and 5 days. Ten years ago he received a slight stroke of paralysis, and since that time dropsy developed and finally terminated in his death. The funeral was held on last Wednesday, services being conducted by Rev. W. E. Detweiler, interment in Mt. Carmel Church cemetery, near Hanover. He was united in marriage with Miss Mary Magdalena Bair in 1863. To this union were born nine sons and one daughter. His wife died 17 years ago. In 1892 he was married for the second time to Miss Kate E. Staub, of Hanover, who survives him, with the following children of his first marriage: Frank J., of East Berlin; Edward C., Reuben C., and Emanuel B., of Jacobs' Mill; George H. of Wiota; Noah S. and Joseph M., of Smith's Station, and Hamilton B. Luckenbaugh of Abbottstown.

CHARLES JONES died at his home in Carroll county, Md., near the Pennsylvania line on Sept. 14, after an illness of several months, aged 70 years, 6 months and 10 days. He was the son of John Jones, one of the most prominent citizens and largest real estate owners in Carroll county in the early sixties. The funeral took place on last Wednesday, interment at Bart's Meeting House, Union township. He is survived by two sons, Washington and Jeremiah both residing in Carroll county, and three daughters, Mrs. Jno. W. F. Copenhaver, of Codorus township, Mrs. David Karichoff of Union township, and Mrs. Uriah Markle, residing in Myers' District, Carroll Co., Md.

FRANCIS NECK died very suddenly at the home of his mother in Emmitsburg on last Wednesday. He is survived by an aged mother, three brothers, Rev. James Neck, of Baltimore, John of Washington, D. C., and Joseph of Emmitsburg, and four sisters, two are Sisters of Charity, one of New York, and one of Philadelphia; Mrs. Daniel Stoutter and Mrs. Mary Slagle, of Emmitsburg.

MISS JANE HUTTON, a well known character of Emmitsburg, died at Mt. Hope Retreat on Sept. 12, and was buried at that place.

MISS LOUISA HARCHENRODER of Elizabethtown, Pa., died suddenly at 11 p. m., Saturday, Sept. 19, of heart disease, at the rectory of Immaculate Conception Catholic Church, New Oxford, aged 38 years.

Miss Harchenroeder came here to visit Mrs. Laura Roddy, when her father, Wm. J. Martin, was taken ill, about two months ago. The day after Capt. Martin was buried, Miss Harchenroeder was compelled to take her bed on account of her suffering, and remained there until Mrs. Roddy moved her to her brother's home, Rev. Father Martin, where Mrs. Roddy had gone to make her home. They were there just one week when Miss Harchenroeder died. A great deal of sympathy is expressed for Mrs. Roddy who has buried her mother, father and dearest friend, in such a short time.

JAMES CARROLL ELDER, died at Emmitsburg last week, aged 25 years. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Elder of that place. He was familiarly known as "Jim" Elder to a wide circle of acquaintances. He had gone to Pittsburg four years ago to engage in railroad work, and during the latter part of his employment as a brakeman on the Monongohela line he suffered from an incurable illness which finally unfitted him for work. The funeral was held last week in St. Joseph's Church of Emmitsburg, services being conducted by Rev. Father McNelis. Besides his parents, brothers and sisters he is survived by his wife, formerly E. Miss Spalding of Emmitsburg.

NEW BUILDING DEDICATED AT MT. ST. MARYS COLLEGE.

Littlestown Complains of Trolley Terminus When Town Could Help Itself.

The new $80 000 building of Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, Emmitsburg, was dedicated recently by Rt. Rev. P. J. Donahue, of Wheeling, W. Va., in the presence of the faculty of the seminary and college.

The building is a handsome five-story structure and contains 75 rooms. It is 185 by 55 feet. At the institution this season there will be 58 students in the college, 48 in the theological department and 10 students of philosophy. The new building was completed last week and was occupied by Rev. William Coyle, S. J., and those attending the retreat he is conducting.

Littlestown fears unfavorable weather will develop the inconvenience from a trolley terminus at the borough line. The town could help itself to better trolley facilities but will not do so and if a bad fall or winter weather overtakes the town, it may be that the town will only be enjoying what could have been avoided. If the authorities of Littlestown visited Gettysburg and many other places having the "T" rail they would discover that no inconveniences are suffered in comparison to what they are putting up with, a trolley at the edge of the town. Why don't the councilmen inform themselves of the experiences of several places with "T" rails as compared with those with "L" rail and discover that the dispute about kind of rail is not worth while.

Mrs. Hartzell of near Aspers, while up stairs on a recent Saturday night, heard some one below and when about to descend met a man coming up the stairs. He hastily ran from the house but not before being recognized. Mrs. Hartzell's pocket book with a small sum of money was missing. The thief gained entrance through the cellar window.

Mrs. Leona Lingg, wife of Nicholas Lingg, was standing on a ladder in the orchard at her home picking apples when the ladder slipped and she was thrown about 8 feet to the hard ground breaking her left arm close to the wrist and badly spraining the right arm.

The new convent building now in process of construction at McSherrystown by the contractors, Coulson Bros., of Hanover, is under way. It is an L. shaped structure of brick, and being built in the rear and to the right of the Academy building recently rolled from Main street, 100 feet to the rear. The workmen have also begun the work of razing the rear portion of the old convent building, which stood on the pavement. The only old building on the grounds which will remain standing will be the orphanage and refectory.

Mrs. Kate W. Himes, of New Oxford, lost a very good mule on the farm tenanted by Mr. J. W. Fanus. About ten days previous Mr. Fanus, whilst taking out potatoes on the farm had the mule attached to a shovel plow, and left him stand tied to a tree for a short time. During Mr. Fanus' absence the mule in kicking after the flies got tangled in the traces and drew the plow under him, causing him to fall. In the fall a cross rung between the handles of the plow penetrated the mule's side to a considerable depth, and although a veterinary surgeon sewed up the wound and it was healing the animal became blind and dumb in a few days, and died.

Kodol will, in a very short time, enable the stomach to do the work it should do, and the work it should do is to digest all the food you eat. when the stomach can't do it Kodol does it for it and in the meantime the stomach is getting stronger and able to take up its regular natural work again. Kodol digests all you eat It makes the stomach sweet and it is pleasant to take It is sold here by Peoples Drug Store.

MRS. JOHN SLAGLE of Abbottstown has had her husband arrested for the third time on charge of assault and battery.

When you have a cold you may be sure it has been caused indirectly by constipation and consequently you must first of all take something to move the bowels. This is what has made Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup so successful and so generally demanded. It does not constipate like most of the old fashioned cough cures, but on the other hand it gently moves the bowels and at the same time heals irritation and allays inflammation of the throat. Sold by Peoples Drug Store.

HON. C. G. BEALS has grown two crops of potatoes on the same ground this year. He took out first crop early in July and second crop is about ready to raise.

Kodol will, without doubt, make your stomach strong and will almost instantly relieve you of all the symptoms of indigestion It will do this because it is made up of the natural digestive juices of the stomach so combined that it completely digests the food just as the stomach will do it, so you see Kodol can't fail to help you promptly. It is sold here by Peoples Drug Store.

How to Get Strong.

P. J. Daly, of 1247 W. Congress St., Chicago, tells of a way to become strong: He says: "My mother, who is old and was very feeble, is deriving so much benefit from Electric Bitters, that I feel it is my duty to tell those who need a tonic and strengthing medicine about it. In my mother's case a marked gain in flesh has resulted, insomnia has been overcome, and she is steadily growing stronger." France Had Women Warriors.

The equestrian statue of Domelsello Phyllis de la Charce de la Teur du Pin which the citizens of Grenoble in France have erected, remembering after 200 years what they owe to the lady, has recalled the fact there have been many warrior women of France besides Joan of Arc. Phyllis equipped a company of her vassals and rode against the duke of Savoy.

Count Tolstoy Criticises Dante.

And the Cockney Fled.

The father of the marquis of Bute had an amusing experience recently in the neighborhood of Rothesay. He met a cockney traveler who asked to be directed to a certain place. Deceived by the marquis' accent, the visitor took him for a Southron, and took occasion to make supercilious remarks about the barbarous islanders of Bute. He said: "Blime me, I suppose you're like me, an Englishman?" "No," responded the marquis, "I'm a native of Bute, this island." "Good gracious!" exclaimed the Londoner, in amazement. "Then who in the dooce tamed yer?" Lord Bute assumed a fierce expression, and raising a ponderous cudgel he was carrying, said angrily: "Who says I'm tame?" The alarmed cockney turned and fled.

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold

A. J. Nusbum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took medicines which seemed only to aggravate my case. Fortunateiy I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar to the yellow package, and it quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honeys and Tar with the same success.

A Traveling Man's Experience.

"I must tell you my experience on an East bound O. R. & N.R. R. train from Pendleton to Le Grande, Ore,. writes Sam A Garber, a well known traveling man. "I was in the smoking department with some other traveling men when one of them went out into the coach and came back and said, "There is a woman sick unto death in the car. I at once got up and went out, found her very ill with cramp colic; her hands and arms were drawn up so you could not straighten them, and with a deathlike look on her face. Two or three ladies were working with her and giving her whiskey. I went to my suit case and got my bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy (I never travel without it), ran to the water tank, put a double dose of the medicine in a glass, poured some water into it and stirred it with a pencil; then I had quite a time to get the ladies to let me give it to her, but I succeeded. I could at once see the effect and I worked with her, rubbing her hands, and in twenty minutes I gave her another dose. By this time we were almost into Le Grande, where I was to leave the train. I gave the bottle to the husband to be used in case another dose should be needed, but by the time the train ran into Le Grande she was all right, and I received the thanks of every passenger in the car." The Renewal a Strain.

Vacation is over. Again the school bell rings at morning and at noon, again with tens of thousands the hardest kind of work has begun, the renewal of which is a mental and physical strain to all, except the most rugged. The little girl that a few days ago had roses in her cheeks, and the little boy whose lips were so red that you would have insisted that they had been "kissed by strawberries," have already lost something of the appearance of health. Now is a time when many children should be given a tonic which may avert much serious trouble, and we know of no other so highly to be recommended as Hood's Sarsaparilla, which strengthens the nerves perfects digestion and assimilation, and aids mental development by building up the whole system.

NUMBER ONE.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania so as to consolidate the courts of common pleas of Philadelphia and Allegheny counties, and to give the General Assembly power to establish a separate court in Philadelphia county, with criminal and miscellaneous jurisdiction.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Assembly met, That the following amendments to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same are hereby, proposed in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

That section six of article five be amended by striking out the said section and inserting in place thereof the following:

Section 6. In the counties of Philadelphia and Allegheny all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the several numbered courts of common pleas, shall be vested in one court of common pleas in each of said counties, composed of all the judges in commission in said courts. Such jurisdiction and powers shall extend to all proceedings at law and in equity which shall have been instituted in the several numbered courts, and shall be subject to such changes as may be made by law, and subject to change of venue as provided by law. The president judge of each of the said courts shall be selected as provided by law. The number of judges in each of said courts may be, by law, increased from time to time. This amendment shall take effect on the first Monday of January succeeding its adoption.

Section 2. That article five, section eight, be amended by making an addition thereto so that the same shall read as follows:

Section 8. The said courts in the counties of Philadelphia and Allegheny respectively shall, from time to time, in turn, detail one or more of their judges to hold the courts of oyer and terminer and the courts of quarter sessions of the peace of said counties, in such manner as may be directed by law: Provided, That in the county of Philadelphia the General Assembly shall have power to establish a separate court, consisting of not more than four judges, which shall have exclusive jurisdiction in criminal cases and in such other matters as may be provided by law.

NUMBER TWO.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth, allowing counties, cities, boroughs, townships, school districts, or other municipal or incorporated districts, to increase their indebtedness.

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That section eight, article nine, of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, reading as follows:—

"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein; nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election, in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation," be amended, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article of said Constitution, so that said section, when amended, shall read as follows:—

Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed ten per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein; nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election, in such manner as shall be provided by law.

NUMBER THREE.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing amendments to sections eight and twenty-one of article four, sections eleven and twelve of article five, sections two, three, and fourteen of article eight, section one of article twelve, and sections two and seven of article fourteen, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, and providing a schedule for carrying the amendments into effect.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following are proposed as amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:—

Amendment One—To Article Four, Section Eight.

Section 2. Amend section eight of article four of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:—

"He shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate, appoint a Secretary of the Commonwealth and an Attorney General during pleasure, a Superintendent of Public Instruction for four years, and such other officers of the Commonwealth as he is or may be authorized by the Constitution or by law to appoint; he shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen, in offices to which he may appoint, during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session; he shall have power to fill any vacancy that may happen, during the recess of the Senate, in the office of Auditor General, State Treasurer, Secretary of Internal Affairs or Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a judicial office, or in any other elective office which he is or may be authorized to fill; if the vacancy shall happen during the session of the Senate, the Governor shall nominate to the Senate, before their final adjournment, a proper person to fill said vacancy; but in any such case of vacancy, in an elective office, a person shall be chosen to said office at the next general election, unless the vacancy shall happen within three calendar months immediately preceding such election, in which case the election for said office shall be held at the second succeeding general election. In acting on executive nominations the Senate shall sit with open doors, and, in confirming or rejecting the nominations of the Governor, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and shall be entered on the journal," so as to read as follows:—

He shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate, appoint a Secretary of the Commonwealth and an Attorney General during pleasure, a Superintendent of Public Instruction for four years, and such other officers of the Commonwealth as he is or may be authorized by the Constitution or by law to appoint; he shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen, in offices to which he may appoint, during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session; he shall have power to fill any vacancy that may happen, during the recess of the Senate, in the office of Auditor General, State Treasurer, Secretary of Internal Affairs or Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a judicial office, or in any other elective office which he is or may be authorized to fill: if the vacancy shall happen during the session of the Senate, the Governor shall nominate to the Senate, before their final adjournment, a proper person to fill said vacancy; but in any such case of vacancy, in an elective office, a person shall be chosen to said office on the next election day appropriate to such office, according to the provisions of this Constitution, unless the vacancy shall happen within two calendar months immediately preceding such election day, in which case the election for said office shall be held on the second succeeding election day appropriate to such office. In acting on executive nominations the Senate shall sit with open doors, and, in confirming or rejecting the nominations of the Governor, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and shall be entered on the journal.

Amendment Two—To Article Four, Section Twenty-one.

Section 3. Amend section twenty-one of article four, which reads as follows:—

"The term of the Secretary of Internal Affairs shall be four years; of the Auditor General three years; and of the State Treasurer two years. These officers shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the State at general elections. No person elected to the office of Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be capable of holding the same office for two consecutive terms," so as to read:—

The terms of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, the Auditor General, and the State Treasurer shall each be four years; and they shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the State at general elections; but a State Treasurer, elected in the year one thousand nine hundred and nine, shall serve for three years, and his successors shall be elected at the general election in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve, and in every fourth year thereafter. No person elected to the office of Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be capable of holding the same office for two consecutive terms.

Amendment Three—To Article Five, Section Eleven.

"Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, justices of the peace or aldermen shall be elected in the several wards, districts, boroughs and townships at the time of the election of constables, by the qualified electors thereof, in such manner as shall be directed by law, and shall be commissioned by the Governor for a term of five years. No township, ward, district or borough shall elect more than two justices of the peace or aldermen without the consent of a majority of the qualified electors within such township, ward or borough; no person shall be elected to such office unless he shall have resided within the township, borough, ward or district for one year next preceding his election. In cities containing over fifty thousand inhabitants, not more than one alderman shall be elected in each ward or district," so as to read:—

Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, justices of the peace or aldermen shall be elected in the several wards, districts, boroughs or townships, by the qualified electors thereof, at the municipal election, in such manner as shall be directed by law, and shall be commissioned by the Governor for a term of six years. No township, ward, district or borough shall elect more than two justices of the peace or aldermen without the consent of a majority of the qualified electors within such township, ward or borough; no person shall be elected to such office unless he shall have resided within the township, borough, ward or district for one year next preceding his election. In cities containing over fifty thousand inhabitants, not more than one alderman shall be elected in each ward or district.

Amendment Four—To Article Five, Section Twelve.

Section 5. Amend section twelve of article five of the Constitution, which reads as follows:—

"In Philadelphia there shall be established, for each thirty thousand inhabitants, one court, not of record, of police and civil causes, with jurisdiction not exceeding one hundred dollars; such courts shall be held by magistrates whose term of office shall be five years, and they shall be elected on general ticket by the qualified voters at large; and in the election of the said magistrates no voter shall vote for more than two-thirds of the number of persons to be elected when more than one are to be chosen; they shall be compensated only by fixed salaries, to be paid by said county; and shall exercise such jurisdiction, civil and criminal, except as herein provided, as is now exercised by aldermen, subject to such changes, not involving an increase of civil jurisdiction or conferring political duties as may be made by law. In Philadelphia the office of alderman is abolished," so as to read as follows:—

In Philadelphia there shall be established, for each thirty thousand inhabitants, one court, not of record, of police and civil causes, with jurisdiction not exceeding one hundred dollars; such courts shall be held by magistrates whose term of office shall be six years, and they shall be elected on general ticket at the municipal election, by the qualified voters at large; and in the election of the said magistrates no voter shall vote for more than two-thirds of the number of persons to be elected when more than one are to be chosen; they shall be compensated only by fixed salaries, to be paid by said county; and shall exercise such jurisdiction, civil and criminal, except as herein provided, as is now exercised by aldermen, subject to such changes, not involving an increase of civil jurisdiction or conferring political duties, as may be made by law. In Philadelphia the office of alderman is abolished.

Amendment Five—To Article Eight, Section Two.

Section 6. Amend section two of article eight, which reads as follows:—

"The general election shall be held annually on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto," so as to read:—

The general election shall be held biennially on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in each even-numbered year, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto: Provided, That such election shall always be held in an even-numbered year.

Amendment Six—To Article Eight, Section Three.

Section 7. Amend section three of article eight, which reads as follows:—

"All elections for city, ward, borough and township officers, for regular terms of service, shall be held on the third Tuesday of February," so as to read:—

All judges elected by the electors of the State at large may be elected at either a general or municipal election, as circumstances may require. All elections for judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and for county, city, ward, borough, and township officers, for regular terms of service, shall be held on the municipal election day; namely, the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in each odd-numbered year, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto. Provided, That such election shall always be held in an odd-numbered year.

Amendment Seven—To Article Eight, Section Fourteen.

"District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen annually by the citizens. Each elector shall have the right to vote for the judge and one inspector, and each inspector shall appoint one clerk. The first election board for any new district shall be selected, and vacancies in election boards filled, as shall be provided by law. Election officers shall be privileged from arrest upon days of election, and while engaged in making up and transmitting returns, except upon warrant of a court of record or judge thereof, for an election fraud, for felony, or for wanton breach of the peace. In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service," so as to read:—

District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen biennially, by the citizens at the municipal election; but the General Assembly may require said boards to be appointed in such manner as it may by law provide. Laws regulating the appointment of said boards may be enacted to apply to cities only: Provided, That such laws be uniform for cities of the same class. Each elector shall have the right to vote for the judge and one inspector, and each inspector shall appoint one clerk. The first election board for any new district shall be selected, and vacancies in election boards filled, as shall be provided by law. Election officers shall be privileged from arrest upon days of election, and while engaged in making up and transmitting returns, except upon warrant of a court of record, or judge thereof, for an election fraud, for felony, or for wanton breach of the peace. In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service.

Amendment Eight—To Article Twelve, Section One.

Section 9. Amend section one, article twelve, which reads as follows:—

"All officers, whose selection is not provided for in this Constitution, shall be elected or appointed as may be directed by law," so as to read:—

All officers, whose selection is not provided for in this Constitution, shall be elected or appointed as may be directed by law: Provided, That elections of State officers shall be held on a general election day, and elections of local officers shall be held on a municipal election day, except when, in either case, special elections may be required to fill unexpired terms.

Amendment Nine—To Article Fourteen, Section Two.

Section 10. Amend section two of article fourteen, which reads as follows:—

"County officers shall be elected at the general elections and shall hold their offices for the term of three years, beginning on the first Monday of January next after their election, and until their successors shall be duly qualified; all vacancies not otherwise provided for, shall be filled in such manner as may be provided by law," so as to read:—

County officers shall be elected at the municipal elections and shall hold their offices for the term of four years, beginning on the first Monday of January next after their election, and until their successors shall be duly qualified; all vacancies not otherwise provided for, shall be filled in such manner as may be provided by law.

Amendment Ten—To Article Fourteen, Section Seven.

Section 11. Amend section seven, article fourteen, which reads as follows:—

"Three county commissioners and three county auditors shall be elected in each county where such officers are chosen, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five and every third year thereafter; and in the election of said officers each qualified elector shall vote for no more than two persons, and the three persons having the highest number of votes shall be elected; any casual vacancy in the office of county commissioner or county auditor shall be filled, by the court of common pleas of the county in which such vacancy shall occur, by the appointment of an elector of the proper county who shall have voted for the commissioner or auditor whose place is to be filled," so as to read:—

Three county commissioners and three county auditors shall be elected in each county where such officers are chosen, in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven and every fourth year thereafter; and in the election of said officers each qualified elector shall vote for no more than two persons, and the three persons having the highest number of votes shall be elected; any casual vacancy in the office of county commissioner or county auditor shall be filled, by the court of common pleas of the county in which such vacancy shall occur, by the appointment of an elector of the proper county who shall have voted for the commissioner or auditor whose place is to be filled.

Schedule for the Amendments

Section 12. That no inconvenience may arise from the changes in the Constitution of the Commonwealth, and in order to carry the same into complete operation, it is hereby declared, that—

In the case of officers elected by the people, all terms of office fixed by act of Assembly at an odd number of years shall each be lengthened one year, but the Legislature may change the length of the term provided the terms for which such officers are elected shall always be for an even number of years.

The above extension of official terms shall not affect officers elected at the general election of one thousand nine hundred and eight; nor any city, ward, borough, township, or election division officers, whose terms of office, under existing law, end in the year one thousand nine hundred and ten.

In the year one thousand nine hundred and ten the municipal election shall be held on the third Tuesday of February as heretofore; but all officers chosen at that election to an office the regular term of which is two years, and also all election officers and assessors chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven. All officers chosen at that election to offices the term of which is now four years, or is made four years by the operation of these amendments or this schedule, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirteen. All justices of the peace, magistrates, and aldermen, chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen. After the year nineteen hundred and ten, and until the Legislature shall otherwise provide, all terms of city, ward, borough, township, and election division officers shall begin on the first Monday of December in an odd-numbered year.

All city, ward, borough, and township officers holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of December of that year.

All judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and also all county officers holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of January, one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

When the letter from Aunt Salina was received announcing that she would arrive on a visit the next week, mother and daughter looked at each other for a long minute, then the former said:

"We must keep it from her."

"Yes."

"If we don't she will certainly talk right up to the deacon and make things worse than ever. Your Aunt Salina is not afraid of any living man. You just act as natural as you can, and don't let her catch on to a thing."

And yet five or six days later, when the guest in question arrived, she had not been in the house half an hour before she set her jaw and said to Mrs Thompson, her widowed sister:

"Now, Ruth, while Mary is upstairs I want to hear all about it. There's some skulduddery been going on here, and I want to get at the root of it. It's no use to put on that innocent look, for I'm a woman that can't be deceived."

Then the widow had to fix it up. Her daughter Mary, now twenty years old, had been "keeping company" with Deacon Bromley's son James, and the marriage day had once been set. Deacon Bromley had then favored the match The widow had a fine farm adjoining his, and if she took forty acres off of hers and he forty off of his the young folks would have a good start in life She as well as he could also contribute considerable cash toward building the new house and barn. Yes, it would be a good match all around, and everything was going swimmingly when the deacon took in a summer boarder.

He was what might be called a half cash boarder—that is, for two weeks he paid half the price of board and lodging in cash and the other in information which changed the deacon's nature all over The boarder had made a study of family trees, so he asserted, and after scratching his head and consulting the signs in the family almanac for a fortnight he announced that the Bromleys were direct descendants of Lord Bromley of England, while Lord Bromley himself was a grand-nephew of William the Conqueror

The deacon had always been rather a stiff necked man toward the community, and this information added to his pride. He did not question the stranger's information, and after a time it began to get in its work. He wasn't rich, but he had the blue blood in him, and that was even better. In four weeks he was walking as if he had a poker down his back, and at the end of four more he said to his son:

"James, there is nothing that hurts a family more than a misalliance. What is the world going to say when it hears that a Bromley has married a Thompson?"

"Are you talking about Mary Thompson, father?" asked James.

"I am I am seeing things a great deal different from what I did a few weeks ago Where did the Thompsons spring from? Who are they? Was the first Thompson a lord or duke or only a cooper?"

"But, you know, I'm engaged to Mary Thompson, and you know that the family is respectable No one can say that there has been anything against them, from grandfather down."

"Um, um! None of them has been in jail that I know of, but I ask again, 'Who are the Thompsons?' We know who the Bromleys sprang from, and I cannot consent to any plebeian alliance Until I know who the first Thompson was I shall feel justified in opposing this match. It will be no use whatever to argue the matter with me. I am determined to preserve the purity of our blood as it has come down to us."

James did not cease to call at the widow's, but it was not long before she realized that he had something on his mind, and he was finally prevailed upon to state it He held in direct opposition to his father, but that did not satisfy the insulted mother or the high spirited daughter. Strained relations followed. Such was the situation when Aunt Salina arrived. She listened to the story with a grim look on her face, and when it was finished she said:

"Ruth, you were never any good at handling cases like this, and you must leave things to me I know all about the Thompsons and the Bromleys, too, and I've heard a thing or two about William the Conqueror since I went to Michigan to live You must keep out of the fuss and let me settle it my own way."

"But you won't go to the deacon and call him an old idiot?" protested the widow.

"I can't tell what I'll do Providence generally takes a hand in cases like this, and I shall depend a good deal on Providence. We won't say a word to Mary about it."

Providence didn't wait long before taking a hand. December had come. Instead of being married on Christmas day, as the young couple had hoped for, they were as good as estranged.

Between the house and the barn was a goose pond of a considerable depth, and, though this had been frozen over solid for two or three weeks, a recent south wind had gone far to weaken the ice, and the hired man had skirted the pond in going to and fro.

On the forenoon of the very next day after the story had been told Deacon Bromley came walking toward the widow's house. He was taking a short cut across the fields, and when he reached the pond he stepped boldly on the ice. It began to crack, and, though a direct descendant of Lord Bromley and through him of William the Conqueror, the deacon didn't consider it derogatory to his dignity to make a rush for the head of a barrel appearing above the ice. He dared not go back and he dared not go forward, and he shouted for some one to come and shove a plank out on the ice to save his blue blood from being chilled.

"My soul, but there's Deacon Bromley standing on that barrel in the middle of the goose pond!" exclaimed the widow as she heard the shouts and looked out of the window."

"It's Providence," answered Aunt Salina, "and now you keep hands off. Providence and I are going to run this show. Get my hood and shawl and mittens, for the conversation may last some time."

Five minutes later she stood on the bank of the pond, sizing the deacon up, and after a bit she said:

"I am Mary's Aunt Salina from Michigan and here on a visit. Did you want to see any one in particular?"

"Why—why, as I was just going by, you know, I thought I would stop and ask for any letters James might have written."

"And did James know you were going to ask?"

"N-o, I can't say that he did. I see a twelve foot board there by the wood shed. May I ask you to kindly bring it here and shove it out on the ice?"

"What! What!" exclaimed Aunt Salina as she glared at him. "Sir, I want you to know that I was a Thompson before I married!"

"Yes?"

"And how dare you, sir—how dare a Bromley ask a Thompson to drag boards around? It's an insult, sir—an insult to our blood!"

"I didn't mean it so. I didn't know—I never heard that the Thompsons had—had"—

"Had any blood at all, you mean, sir! Another insult! Who do you think you are, sir?"

"You may have heard of Lord Bromley of England?" queried the deacon, trying to look dignified, but making a failure of it, as any man must have done, perched in the center of a goose pond.

"Yes, sir, I have and with good reason. He stole a horse from a Thompson and was hanged for it!"

"You—you don't say!"

"In the next generation two Bromleys were branded on the palms of their hands for cattle stealing. In the third one of them went to prison for arson. He sought to burn down the castle of a Thompson."

"Can it be possible?"

"And in the fourth, fifth and sixth generations the Thompsons got together all their retainers and drove all the Bromleys out of the country, and the king rewarded them for it. Is it possible that you never heard that Lord Grassy was a Thompson? Doesn't history tell you that the Duke of York was a Thompson? Why, man, there isn't a noble in England today that wasn't a Thompson first. He had to be."

"I—I have been told that I descended from William the Conqueror," faltered the deacon, as he felt that he had lost his case.

"But who was William the Conqueror? When he landed in England it was the Thompsons that lent him money and paid his house rent until he could strike a job. Deacon Bromley, do you want that board to get ashore on?"

"If you please."

"And is it to save an idiot or a sensible man?"

"Um! I think I would like to talk with the widow a little while. I didn't know, you know"—

"No," replied Aunt Selina as she went after the board, "but you do now. It's Thompson It's Thompson with a 'p.' It's the Thompson family, descended directly from Adam and Eve, that have been making and unmaking kings and emperors and dividing up the earth for the last 6,000 years and are not through yet. There's the plank, and now you come in and have a talk and get over your foolishness."

The marriage took place a month later, and Deacon Bromley hasn't had a chance yet to thrash the genealogist who paid half cash for his board.

Bathing an Elephant.

If there is one thing which an elephant enjoys above all things else, it is his bath In India elephants are used to draw the great guns of the heavy batteries. They take their baths in the barracks at the troughs where they drink, and they behave much better about it than many children. They have to lie down and be patient while they are washed by their attendants. They turn themselves about very promptly to suit their convenience. The attendant rubs the hide with a piece of stone instead of a sponge, and if the stone slips out of his hand the elephant politely picks it up with his trunk and hands it back After they have been well scrubbed the elephants give themselves a shower bath, using their trunks to dash the water upon their backs, and they can hit any part of their bodies with ease.—London Mail.

Clever Birds.

A gentleman tells the following in regard to the cleverness of two goldfinches upon which he kept a close watch while they were building a nest on a small branch of a tree. When the nest was finished he noticed that the weight of the birds and the eggs was too great for the strength of the supporting branch. The goldfinches also perceived that the nest would fall unless something was done, and, after a great deal of bird talk, they flew away and came back with a stout string Then they cleverly fastened the bending twig to a stronger and higher branch of the tree, and thus preserved their nest and its contents from destruction.—London Standard.

FAIRFIELD'S BIG FIRE

EIGHT STABLES DESTROYED WITH A LOSS OF OVER $2,000

Twenty Houses On Fire at One Time —High Wind and Showers of Sparks Made it an Afternoon of Terror.

As COMPILER went to press last Tuesday afternoon, alarming news of a big fire at Fairfield was received. It was impossible to get in communication with any one by telephone, the citizens being busy at the fire.

The fire started about 1 o'clock in the barn of James S. Sanders at the rear of Water street. This street runs at right angles to the main street of the town and along the rear end of the lots on one side of the street were a number of frame barns. Soon after the fire started the farmers' dinner bells and church bells were rung to call out every one able to lend a hand at fighting fire.

In a short time the fire had been carried by the high wind to every barn on Water street and they were furiously burning. At the same time sparks were carried to a row of residences on Water street and also to many houses on the east end of Main street. Many roofs were beginning to smoke and it looked at one time as though a large part of the town would be destroyed. The citizens at once devoted their attention to the houses and every house was manned with men and the roofs were kept wet with buckets of water and wet carpets. Twenty houses at one time were on fire but the flames were put out before much damage was done.

The wind was very high and while six stable to the rear of Water street were burning, the flames and sparks leaped a distance of 400 feet, over Main street to the barn of J. U. Neely and it was soon wrapped in flames, and the adjoining barn of Daniel Mickley caught and both burned to the ground.

The fire attracted much attention, people from the surrounding country going into Fairfield to lend a hand. Before the fire was over one hundred pepople from Gettysburg had reached Fairfield. The fire was under control in an hour's time and in that time eight stables had been consumed by the flames. The losses are estimated as follows:

James S. Sanders' stable	$250.00
James Hoffman, stable	150.00
Mrs. Mary Sanders, small stable	75.0
James Corwell, stable	250.00
George McGlaughlin, stable	250.00
James Frock, stable	250.00
D. W. Mickley,	300.00
J. U. Neely	500.00

The total was slightly in excess of $2000 with $300 insurance. The stable and contents of J. U. Neely were insured for $200 and James S. Sanders' stable for $100. One of the losses will fall on the Adams County Mutual Fire Insurance Company and the other on the Mummasburg Mutual Fire Insurance Association. In the barn of J. S. Sanders was a quantity of tools and he also lost two hogs, being all the live stock destroyed.

Five buildings on the farm of H. N. and C. A. Landis were on fire at one time, but extinguished by hard labor. The house of E. B. Swope in the center of the town was found to be on fire and when put out the fire had eaten a hole about a yard square in the roof.

The origin of the fire is unknown. Mr. Sanders, in whose stable the flames were first seen, was away quarrying stone. Neither his wife nor his children were in the stable. There had been no new hay in the stable. The fire is rather attributed to some carelessness of boys than to an incendiary origin.

It was the most thrilling afternoon in the history of Fairfield. Aroused by cry of fire the strong wind almost instantly began to shower upon the town great quantities of sparks with an enveloping cover of smoke. A sickening dred pervaded the place that it would be wiped out of existence but they went bravely to the work of saving their homes and it seems like a miracle to many of the people that not a single home was destroyed.

Geo. J. Kebil, proprietor of the Fairfield Hotel, closed his bar as soon as the flames broke out and kept it closed during the remainder of the day.

Good Way to do Business.

When you can buy gold dollars for fifty cents, it is a good time to purchase.

In ordering a 50c. bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at 25c., L. M. Buehler is giving one of the greatest trade chances ever offered to the people of Gettysburg.

Even though offered at half-price for introductory purposes the specific is sold under a guarantee to cure or the money will be refunded.

If food does not digest well, if there is gas or pain in the stomach, if the tongue is coated and the breath bad, if there is constipation and straining, Dr. Howard's specific will cure you. If it does not you have Druggist Buehler's personal guarantee to return your money.

This remarkable remedy comes in the form of tiny granules and can be carried in the vest pocket or purse. It is very popular in New York City and it is not unusual to see someone after a meal at one of those large hotels or restaurants, take a dose of this specific knowing that it will prevent the uncomfortable feeling which frequently follows a hearty meal.

HAMILTONBAN PERSONALS.

JACK'S MT., Sept. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Spangler who reside at Iron Springs, attended the Hanover Fair several days last week.

Wm. Heagy has gone to Franklin county to work for several weeks

Our very worthy Co. Supt., Mr. Roth, has been visiting our schools in this township and reports them in a good condition.

John Baker and Howard Sanders made a business trip to Gettysburg last week.

Rev. D. C. Eyler made a business trip to Fairfield one day last week.

Thomas Eyler who works below Gettysburg, was home with his parents at Fairfield Station.

Mrs. E. W. Harbaugh from Orrtana visited her sister Mrs. Lewis Pittenger at Gladhill's Station several days last week.

Wm. Heintzelman from the same place made a business trip to Charmian.

CONCRETE IMPROVEMENTS.

EAST BERLIN, Sept. 21.—Many of our citizens are building concrete pavements about their properties. The fact is East Berlin has had for several years a large amount of concrete pavement building so that the visitor to this place will find many properties in a trim order.

George M. Resser assisted by I. F. Myers and J. Stambaugh put down and finished 327 square feet of concrete pavement walk from house to barn in one day for Isaac H. Hoechst. This is considered a large days work.

Rev. Wider, of Harrisburg, and Rev. Longenecker, of Palmyra, will preach in the German Baptist church next Saturday evening and Sunday evening, Sept. 26th and 27th. They will address the Sunday School on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Everybody welcome.

The East Berlin Milling Company is running day and night. Their large elevator is full, holding 9000 bushels of wheat. The farmers are selling their wheat at 92 cts. per bushel.

The farmers are asking 75 cts. for their new crop of corn.

Felix Decker of this place is taking charge to-day of hotel at Hampton for Mr. Nace who bought the hotel of Mr. Raubenstine on private terms.

Dr. Kehm, of this place is confined to his bed by sickness.

Yesterday morning 50 years ago there was hard frost. Everything was frozen. An occurrence that morning will never be forgotten as long as I live.

William Wilt of Paradise township, York county, died very suddenly on last Saturday. Full particulars will be sent next week. E. L. S.

A GOOD POTATO CROP.

ARENDTSVILLE, Sept. 21.—Since our farmers have taken up their potatoes they find the crop better than they had expected. Chas. McDanell and Geo. L. Culp will each have over 700 bushels and they estimate the corn crop about 3-4 in this locality.

The Arendtsville Kids went on last Saturday to Sunnyside and defeated the team of that place by score of 10 to 5. The batteries were, Arendtsville, Ed. Funt and C. Thomas. Sunnyside, J. Adams and S. Adams. Struck out by Funt, 16; by Adams, 2.

Arnold Raffensperger, son of H. S. Raffensperger, one of our successful truck gardeners, exhibited a sweet potato that weighed 3 pounds and 11 ounces.

A. J. Miller will operate his hydraulic cider press on Tuesday and Thursday only during the cider making season.

Mrs. J. B. Naugle of Pittston, Pa., was a recent visitor at Dr. Wm. E. Wolff's.

Dr. Jos. Jenkins, wife and little son and daughter of Lititz, Pa., are at the home of Jacob Klepper's.

Mrs. A. Fisher of near this place, who is now visiting relatives in the state of Indiana, writes your correspondent that they are having a severe drought there, no rain of any account for three months. Their corn will be a very short crop. Pasture fields are as bare as the road and the farmers feeding their cattle. They can't sow their fall grain until it rains.

LETTER FROM DRUGGIST L. M. BUEHLER.

Sincerity of Offer to Refund Money Unless Samose Increases Weight.

To the Editors of Gettysburg Compiler:—

Dear Sir:—Having heard that some people question the sincerity of our offer to refund the purchaser's money if Samose does not restore health and increase the weight we are writing you over our own signature that this offer is made in good faith and will be lived up to by us both in the spirit and the letter.

So many of our customers have told us of the great good Samose has done them that we are more thoroughly convinced than ever that there is but little risk in selling Samose under the guarantee.

The demand for Samose is increasing rapidly and we believe it is destined to be the most popular of all treatment for increasing weight, making thin folks plump, and restoring the rundown to good physical health. If it did not have unusual merit we certainly could not offer to guarantee it.

Please publish this in a prominent place so that your readers may see that they run no risk in buying Samose if they wish to gain in weight and get well and strong.

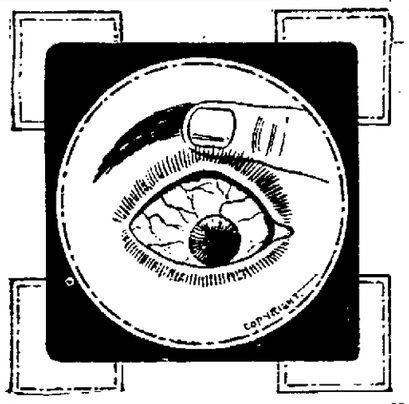

Respectfully yours,
L. M. Buehler.

TEXAS

The Panhandle of Texas offers the very best inducements of the entire United States for the man who wishes to locate on a good farm, as well as for the luvestor.

This land is unusually fertile, it lies nice and level: no stumps or underbrush to clear up, but ready to plow at once. On this land you can raise larger crops of every kind with less labor than on any farm land in Pennsylvania or West Virginia.

There is an abundance of rainfall during the crop growing season, and they have the healthiest and most pleasant climate during the entire year of any place in the United States. Plenty of absolutely fresh water.

We are selling this land for $10 to $30 per acre, according to distance from railroads and towns. Good terms. You can buy as many acres as you want and make as much or more than the cost of your land in the first year.

Our next excursion leaves Pittsburg in the evening of Sept. 28 and Oct. 5.

Send for our free illustrated booklet. You should investigate this proposition at once by going with us on our next excursion. Now is your chance before the land is all sold, as thousands of Northern people have located there and the prices of land are sure to more than double in the near future. We will refund your expenses of making the trip if we have misrepresented the land.
